

Dear Honourable Members

We have a Constitutional Crisis!

It is in your best interest to read and digest every word!

I am standing for the Federal Seat of Ballarat as an Independent Candidate in this year's election, primarily to introduce a referendum to give our government the power to write its own Money Supply into existence. I discovered a Flaw in our Constitution while researching my book, Spiritual-Busyness, from Surviving to Thriving. www.spiritualbusyness.com Originally, I spoke to a woman in the Melbourne Registry of the High Court of Australia, and she suggested I should mount a High Court challenge to this flaw. I am not a lawyer and couldn't do this, so I wrote to our PM about eight times, both in email form and letter.

Not one reply did I receive from him regarding this flaw issue. So much for our representative democracy! It is no wonder our Australian public have such a poor opinion of our politicians. I also contacted the Opposition Leader, no response from him either.

Next, I approached our Attorney Generals, both State and Federal. If we have a flaw in our Constitution, it would be appropriate for our Attorney Generals to fix it, given they are lawyers. The only response to this request was from the South Australian and Tasmania Attorney Generals, who said they would not intervene in such a High Court Challenge.

Lastly, I approached my own MP Catherine King, I was trying to make an appointment to see her and was told by her secretary that Catherine would not want to see me. As I said before, so much for our democracy! I wanted to discuss with Ms King a conversation I had just had, ten minutes earlier with my local bank manager. He had phoned me after I had said to his secretary, I wanted to save Australia's economy from the ravages of Covid 19.

The conversation with my bank manager went as follows. "If our government had the power to write into existence its own Money Supply, they could pay the beneficiaries of the governments Job Keeper and Job Seeker policies and then write the money out of existence just like a bank does when they foreclose on a mortgage. The benefit to the Australian people, they would benefit from the payment, incur no public debt, and have no interest to pay on a debt that no longer exists. These Job Keeper and Job Seeker programs had cost 300 billion dollars at the time to the taxpayer.

I went on, if our government were really serious about saving our economy from Covid 19 they could write into existence 300 trillion dollars to save our economy if that is what it took?" My bank manager agreed with everything I said! It would also be in the banks best interest too if our government had this power. Go and ask your own bank manager the same questions? If they are honest, you will get the same answers as I did.

Our democracy is being held to ransom and you dear Honourable Members are complicit in this banking fraud, by default, by not perhaps knowing about it and challenging it. I am not saying this to attack your personal integrity or out of disrespect for who you are. I say it from a position of the following. While our government borrow money to fund their policies off a private banking cartel, that is over three hundred years old, by issuing government bonds, to fund their policies we live in a plutocracy, not a democracy! And our Honourable Members and Senators are really proxy agents of these private banking cartels, not the people who voted them into office and pay their salaries!

Hence my decision of rebirthing our democracy, which is the title of my Facebook page. Please lend your support by liking it. Please send your further support by voting for this amendment to our Constitution that I am initiating with a referendum and give Australia an honest and respectful government finally and a fair dinkum democracy.

One of the primary concerns from our electorate currently is the ever-rising cost of living. While it is not ideal, if our government had the power to write its own Money Supply into existence it could totally invalidate inflation with subsidies, just like the temporary fuel excise subsidy. The only difference is, when they write the subsidies out of existence again, there will be no public debt and no interest to pay. The real issue to address with our cost-of-living problem is inflation and that would be solved easily with the introduction of the Spiritual-Business model which is sustainable forever. In being sustainable forever Spiritual-Business is neither inflationary nor deflationary. Inflation and deflation are just two little aspects of the FRL game that the banking industry made up to disempower our communities.

While the Spiritual-Business model has an exponential growth base and could transform our economy rapidly, people need real help now, coming into winter. Subsidies would facilitate a temporary fix to an immediate problem. In my policy list on my website, I will introduce a respectful living wage for our communities, which could be hinged to the CPI index and fluctuate accordingly and automatically.

Most people I know don't have a clue about where money comes from, it is a big mystery, which is what had Henry Ford make the following statement. "It is well the citizens of this nation don't understand our banking and financial systems, for if they did, I believe there would be a revolution before tomorrow morning." While Ford made this statement about America it affects every democracy and non-democracy in our world, including ours.

Another quote worth mentioning is one attributed to the founding father of the Rothschild's banking dynasty Amschell Mayer Rothschild. "Permit me to issue the credit and currency of a nation and I care not who makes its rules." Mr Rothschild's quote confirms what I am saying in this document. Once again, so much for our democracy! Hence, the need for our own government to issue our credit and currency for our nation through its Treasury!

It is time our citizens do understand our banking and financial systems, it is not rocket science, it is criminal fraud. Which is why I sent an 11-page submission to the Australian Federal Police on the 3rd of December 2021 and asked that the banking industry be charged with criminal fraud. I will follow that up with a please explain with the AFP Commissioner today, as to why I haven't received a response.

The system is called Fractional Reserve Lending (FRL), which simply explained allow our banks to lend ten dollars for every dollar they hold on deposit. The question to ask here is how can you lend something you don't have or own? Banks can, and they never lend money! They write new money into existence all the time and call it credit through this FRL fraud. I call the FRL acronym by its proper name, Fraud, Rorting, and Looting.

It is fraudulent because it is written into existence from nowhere or thin air, but you the borrower, has to go out and work, to pay back the loan that came from nowhere. To make matters worse and more scandalous the bank charge the borrower compound interest on their loan from la la land. Compound interest is a sneaky little way initiated by our banks to have you the borrower, pay interest on interest! Henry Ford knew all this and so does our PM and Treasurer and a few others to boot and they need to be booted out of parliament pronto. Ironically, I have been able to transform this fraudulent FRL banking practice to a force for good that would serve our communities well, using the Spiritual-Business model. FRL would then stand for Freedom, Reverence, and Liberty for all Australians!

So, the question I am asking honest MPs and voters is, why doesn't our government have the power to write its own Money Supply into existence at zero interest and be able to write it out of existence (money) like banks do when appropriate. For me, when appropriate would be in any natural disaster situation which would include all climate change issues. The 1.2 million Australian children living below the poverty line is a natural disgrace and an unnatural disaster made by the banks FRL practice. A poverty line is an absence of money line. If money comes from thin air or nowhere, why is there ever an absence of money to address all the issues our nation faces? There certainly wouldn't be if our government had the power to write its own Money Supply!

Money after all is just a symbol and for most of our world's population it is a symbol of lack or absence. Being a symbol, it has whatever value we give it in a democracy. Currently, we are giving money a value of high cost of living, climate change and the elderly living in substandard conditions to name three concerns, resulting in high levels of resulting poverty and hardship for many. Money doesn't have to have this value if you vote 1alexgraham.com

Money can be a symbol of value, where we eliminate hardship and poverty for all in our Ballarat/Australian community. Why is this so if money comes from nowhere? Money as it stands now, is really a symbol of perceived power and control, by a handful of people on our planet who wrote the FRL money game into existence in 1694. And we just inherited this BS game in 1901 with our Federation. It is time to fix our flawed Constitution and make it a fair dinkum one, not a mickey mouse one. Our PM and a few others around our world are just lieutenants of these elite bankers. It is time for a new banking game for our democracy to finally flourish and advance all Australia Fair! See my first item of policy on my website where I have transformed the criminal FRL game into a noble game. There is too much pain and suffering in our country and our world as a result of this fraudulent FRL banking system and it has to change now! vote1alexgraham.com

I know there are many fine and caring MP's and Senators in our Governments who are hamstrung by this flaw in our Constitution. Please amend it immediately for it is in your best interests and the voters in your electorate.

The last thing I want to mention here is the Spiritual-Business model. At the time of the London underground bombings, cutting edge thinking came out of MI6 the British Secret Service, said the best counter to terrorism they believed was to create community. This statement was made on the ABC's Four Corners program at the time. Spiritual-Business as a model was specifically designed to create sustainable community forever, using people and money to that effect. From this position its introduction to your electorates would serve you and your community well dear Honourable Members.

Having watched the 7.30 report on ABC tonight I also see that its Introduction into the Solomon Islands could work in Australia and the Solomons favour because of its creating dynamic communities ability. I worked in PNG for three and a half years and know the culture well of that region. Further to that, it could also work to Australia's and China's favour by defusing the tension between our nations currently. Why do I say this? Because it would work equally well for the Chinese community. Perhaps we wouldn't have to buy those submarines after all. Much better to foster good community relationships across the board than by subs.

While Spiritual-Business as a model produces unprecedented cash flows it is neither capitalistic nor socialistic. It is something else. It is simply about creating dynamic loving communities who have all their needs met. Human beings thrive on love and survive on its absence. I am someone who has always loved what I do in work, like writing this letter to you now. Work for me is to serve community and God. I would love to bring the model to our aged care homes. Lotta love required there. And of course, Parliament House Canberra there seems to be a dearth of love there too.

Lastly. I have access to all this technology for the restoration of our environment from a friend here in Australia. There is no pollution on our planet that my friend can't restore and decontaminate. Currently our government take the attitude that they can make more money out of waste by disposing (burying it in landfills) of it than cleaning it up and restoring it. Our PM said in Glasgow recently that Australia would solve our climate change issues with new technology. Well, that technology has been available for at least ten years that I know of, and you haven't wanted to know about. Ditto for Labor.

When I stood for Ballarat in 2019 as an independent, I rang my friend two days out from election date. I asked him if he could dissolve plastic in water. "Of course, I can," was his confident reply. Plastic is the scourge of the worlds water ways and oceans. This tech is worth trillions of dollars and millions of jobs and the powers that be don't want to know about it. My friend is now languishing in Norther NSW having been rescued from his house by boat when his head was hitting the upstairs ceiling of his double story house. The water was six meters deep in his backyard. Yes, we have a Constitutional crisis here and we have an environmental crisis too!

I have always been annoyed by economists, who offer profound theories about why our economies are doing what they are doing with all their fancy graphs and wiggly lines but forget to mention the engine that drives our economies; money, is based on fraud and is not worth the paper some of it is written on, about 5% in bank notes and coins! The rest of it is all smoke and mirrors, or pretend credit play money that doesn't actually exist, except as an entry on a banker's computer screen. Which is why the one thing banker's fear is a run on them, because their money doesn't exist.

Thank you, God bless Australia

Yours Sincerely,

Alex Graham.
